BANKERS' SESSION VERY INTERESTING

EIGHTY MEMBERS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE DISTRICT
PRESENT TODAY.

GEO. M. REYNOLDS' ADDRESS

Came This Afternoon at Four—Danquet at Myers This Evening
at Seventy-three.

Some eighty bankers, members of Group Number Five of the Wisconsin
Bankers' association, assembled at the Elks' lodge rooms this morning when President C. R. Carpenter of Racine called the meeting to order. Mayor Wilbur F. Carlo, in a few well chosen words, welcomed the visitors to the city, and W. S. Joffe, president of the Merchants' and Savings bank, added to Mayor Carlo's words, the welcome of the Janesville bankers. The response was made by C. C. Brown, president of the Wisconsin Bankers'
association, and then came the roll call.

Some fifty of those present responded to this, each telling why he was present or some "hot" story that was received with applause by those present. C. R. Carpenter then gave the annual address of the Group President
which was followed by the routine
report of the secretary and treasurer.
Chas. Havley of Horicon, George D.
Hartlett, secretary of the State Bankers' association, then made a short address, followed by "Snap Shots of the Los Angeles Convention" by H.
A. Muehlenbach of Chicago.

Immediately following the luncheon
hour the visitors were given a trip around the city in automobiles furnished
by the industrial and commercial club,
after which the session was reconvened
at the Elks' lodge rooms for the program of the afternoon, which proved to be most interesting. The real talk of the day was that of George M.
Reynolds of Chicago, president of the Continental and Commercial National bank, the largest institution west of New York, who spoke last on the afternoon program, many others besides members of the association being present to hear him.

R. M. Richmond of Evansville talked on the "Banker from the Lawyer's Standpoint," and D. G. Edgerton of Oconomowoc spoke on the "Banker in Municipal Affairs," reciting what it did to him personally. William A.
Jackson, vice president of the Fidelity Trust company of Milwaukee, and a former resident of Janesville and attorney for many years, had for his subject, "Joint Savings Accounts and Certificates."

L. C. Whitford of Edgerton, who was a member of the special committee on banking in the last Wisconsin legislature, took for his subject, "Savings of Savings Deposits." A. P. Lovejoy of Janesville spoke on the community and the banks. This closed the program and the regular business of the session was completed with the election of officers for the coming year.

This evening at seven-thirty the banquet tendered the visiting bankers
by the local bankers will be held at the Myers hotel. John G. Rexford will act as toastmaster and M. G. Joffe, with the subject, "Municipal Affairs," Rev. David Bouton with "Championing a Commercial Assn." and J. W. P.
Lombard, president of the National Exchange bank of Milwaukee will be the speakers.

Among the visitors present was Edwin Mead of Minneapolis, president
and manager of the Commercial West, Mr. Mead is a Janesville boy, a son of the late V. C. Mead, one of Janesville's pioneers who settled here before the days of railroads. Mr. Mead has been associated with the Commercial West
since it was founded, and two years ago came into control of the majority of the stock. The paper is the most important banking journal published in the West. It is the largest in size,
the most widely read, and in the estimation of bankers, ranks with the very best financial journals published in the East. Judging from the splendid line of circulation carried, which includes leading banks from the Twin Cities, Chicago, New York and other financial centers, the journal is most successful.

PEARCE AMENDED PLEA TO GUILTY

In Assault and Battery Case This Morning—Sentence Was Sus. pended For Two Weeks.
Charles D. Pearce, former foreman for the Recorder-Printing Co. who pleaded "not guilty" to a charge of assault and battery preferred by L. W. Moffett, city editor, in municipal court yesterday, amended his plea to "guilty" this morning. He told Judge Fifield that he and the complaining witness had an altercation and that he lost his temper and struck at him. Mr. Moffett was not disposed to prosecute if he could have some assurance that Mr. Pearce would not molest him in the future. The defendant was willing to give such assurance. He said that he would probably obtain employment in another town within a week and the court decided to suspend sentence and adjourn the case two weeks. If Mr. Pearce makes no further trouble the action will eventually be dismissed.

IN WRONG TOWN BECAUSE OF CARS?

Two Janesville Nimrods Return From Dakota Trip and Think They Have Left Train at Wrong Station.

One would hardly think that a two weeks' absence from Janesville would see the city so changed that two of its residents would fail to recognize familiar surroundings on their return from a hunting trip. However, this happened today when William Lawver and Hurd Wilson, reaching the city on the Northwestern depot, when the sight of one of the new city cars caused Wilson to stop, pause and then turn to Lawver and state: "This is not Janesville, they put us off at the wrong station," and actually turn to go back to the depot before being convinced it was his home city.

JOHN M'QUADE WAS TAKEN TO BELOIT

Brother Came After Man Who Was Found Starving in a Hut Yesterday Afternoon.

James McQuade who resides at 1109 Holland avenue, Beloit, came to Janesville last evening in response to a message sent by Chief Appleby regarding his brother, John McQuade, who was found ill and without food in the little hut at the intersection of St. Mary's avenue and North Bluff street yesterday afternoon, and after securing a change of clothing for him, took the unfortunate man to the Lake City this morning.

John McQuade is about 35 years of age and not fifty-five as was erroneously stated last evening. He had steady employment and earned good wages at the Thoroughgood factory for twelve years but has not been quite himself since his mother died a year ago. He worked for a short time at the Zellips plant in Beloit but had lately been leading a hand to mouth existence. Most of the summer he spent up river and the last food he had before his plight was discovered by Chief Appleby and Police Inspector Anderson was purchased with some money earned for work about the Elford-Wortendyke summer cottage. Dr. George Pfeiffer, who was called to examine him did not find any convincing evidence that would indicate the man was mentally unbalanced.

However, the brother will attempt to straighten him out and secure employment for him during the next two weeks and if he fails in the effort, as he has on one or two former occasions, McQuade will have to be sent to the county house.

BEGIN TRAINING FOR A ROUNDHOUSE BALL TEAM

Frank Hennessey and Walter Fosmire Engaging in Preliminary Practice for Opening of Next Season.
Under the training of Carl Roy Walter Fosmire, Frank Hennessey, storekeeper at the new yards, is fast rounding into shape as a batsman and it promises to be a close run next year between him and Larry Ludge for the world's batting honors. At present only a soft ball made of candlewick and tape is used until his hands have become hardened to catching and the shock when the ball strikes the bat will not be so great to his nervous system. Fosmire, it is said, has a new curve ball that will make Hennessey's dream ball look like a straw hat in a winter gale. James P. Mason, the popular young man employed as storekeeper, is managing the recruiting and assumes arduous duties in the training of the team. He is also in the company when the whistle blows. A great deal of interest is being shown and there is talk of forming a nine among the men at the house next season. William Whitmeyer, affectionately called "Rocky-box Bill," is preparing to do the Sheridan stunt an ampler.

WAS DRUNK WHEN HE BROUGHT BACK HORSE

Eddie Griffin, Who Borrowed Nag at Van Allen Livery Was Taken in Tow by Police at 3:30 This Morning.

The police department was called upon at half past two o'clock this morning to take charge of Eddie ("Shanty") Griffin who had returned to Van Allen's livery with a horse and rig he had borrowed. Griffin was in a state of helpless intoxication and the livery people claimed that he took the rig without their knowledge or permission and at first showed a disposition to prosecute him on this score. Later on, however, their attitude changed. He pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness. In municipal court this morning and being unable to pay a fine and costs amounting to $1, went to jail for seven days.

ONE ON THE POMPOUS JUDGE

Barcastle Denunciation of Sleeping Juror Brings Startling and Discomforting Reply.

The lawyer for the prosecution had finished his closing argument and the judge, a pompous and long-winded individual, was charging the jury:

He was in the midst of an unusually long and tedious address when he suddenly noticed that one of the jurors had fallen asleep. The indignation of his honor was boundless. Rapping sharply on his desk he awakened the slumberer, who seemed not at all abashed at being thus caught napping. After glaring at him angrily for a few moments, the magistrate in his most sarcastic tone said:

"So that's the way you attend to your duty, is it? You're a fine specimen to have on a jury. Do you think your opinion will be of any value when I send you out to determine the fate of this prisoner?"

"Yes, sir," said the juror quietly, "I think so."

"Oh, you do, do you?" shouted the exasperated judge. "I say tell me, sir, how long have you been sleeping?"

"I don't know, your honor," was the reply. "How long have you been talking?"

RITA FORNIA

Prima Donna Soprano

With Metropolitan Opera Company, also the Boston Opera Company.

RITA FORNIA
Prima Donna Soprano.

Rita Fornia is a prominent member of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and she was recently declared by the management to be one of its most valuable members, an evidence being that she has been retained by a contract for a term of years to appear in the important soprano roles. Her voice is a beautiful soprano. She sings with great depth of expression, and possesses an unusually charming stage presence. There are few artists who have so great a repertoire of operas. Although she is one of the youngest singers appearing in important parts, her excellent work has made the name of Rita Fornia already well-known, and the leading critics unite in the opinion that she will soon be recognized as one of the greatest singers this country has produced. For she is an American, having been born in San Francisco.

This entertainment promises to eclipse any previous one given by the club. The Apollo Club invites new season members. Dues only $3.00 per year. New members pay, in addition to the yearly dues, 50¢ extra at time of joining, as initiation fee. Single admission to the public to this attraction, $1.50. Dues for membership now due, and application for new membership should be made at once to C. P. Beers, Secretary.

The Best Economy in Piano Buying

Let Others Buy the Cheap Pianos

For your instrument choose one which will give you years of service after the inferior ones have outlived the little usefulness they ever may have had. Of course, you will have to pay more for a good piano—but is it not economy to do so and assure yourself of permanent satisfaction? Beware the lure of unreasonably low price. Rest your decision on the value offered and remember that the very cheap piano means cheap construction, inferior tone and only temporary usefulness.

Do not permit yourself to indulge in the extravagance of "saving" a few dollars now to take the chance of dissatisfaction after you have spent your money. You can get an idea of what piano value means by inspecting our collection. You can buy an instrument here at a price as low as a good one can be sold for. Furthermore, you will find that we have graded our prices consistently with the relative worth of our pianos. Therefore you can make your selection to the very best advantage whatever sum you may wish to invest. ALL OF THE LATEST SHEET MUSIC.

WOULD BE ROBBER ENTERS AN EGGERTON RESIDENCE

Home of H. R. Houff. Was Entered Last Evening But Made Escape Without Booty.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Egerton, Oct. 26.—Last night at 9:45 o'clock officers Spangler and Dunn were called to the home of H. R. Houff as a robber was heard in the house. It seems that Mr. Wm. Houff and wife went home shortly after eight and left the front door open for their father. They retired shortly after reaching their home and were started at 9:45 by some one coming up the stairs, turning into a room at the head of the stairs and opening the drawers of the dresser. Mr. Houff called out of the second story window to Mr. Harry Ash and told him to telephone for the officers, and then started to investigate for himself, which caused the would be robber run down the stairs and depart in great haste before anyone could even get sight of him.

There is no clue as to who the robber could have been, but it is thought that he was local talent who saw Mr. Houff go home and leave the door open, and then waited a short time for the parties to fall asleep. He was discovered before he was able to help himself to anything.

FAVOR YANKEE FIZZY WATER

Twenty August Visitors Line Up at Soda Fountain Like Little School Children.

New York.—Frederick H. Mills, financial director of the International prison commission, is showing New York to the foreign delegates, the British, Austrian, German, South American, Italian and Chinese prison experts who are going to Washington to attend the first international prison congress ever held in the United States. Today Mr. Mills wondered what new thing he could lead them to. They had seen the tall buildings, the art museum, the subway, the parks and the flatirons, but they still craved novelty.

Struck by an idea he guided a party of 20, including Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, of the British home office; Dr. Van Engellberg, of the German ministry of justice; Charles Dillon, of the ministry of justice of Belgium, and Victor Almquist, chief of the division of the ministry of justice of Sweden, to a big ice cream parlor in Broadway near the Herald Square hotel.

Mr. Mills waited them along the counter, then he said to the soda fountain attendant: "Make twenty ice-cream sodas, vanilla flavor."

"Trust me," he added to the delegates, "they will not harm you. It is one of our principal American luxuries. Sit gently and eat with the spoon."

The dined prison congress folk went at the soda gingerly at first, but they froze to the mixture and told Mr. Mills that they intended to try it again. They had never partaken of an ice cream soda and they were positive that the experience would remain as one of their pleasantest in New York.

There is a German delegate at the Hotel Plaza who set out to taste all dishes on the menu card that were new to him. At present he is dining under doctor's orders. "He mixed things too much," said Mr. Mills. "And he acquired one of the finest old-fashioned American stomach-aches you ever heard of."

Good Food for Dyspepsia.

Boston.—"Common sand, sterilized properly, is a better remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion troubles than any medicine. It is the means of digestion of many animals, so why not a man also?" says William A. Graustein, a wealthy milk dealer of Boston.

"Many years ago I used to sit at my desk, incapable of work, dopy and dull. A physician suggested that I swallow a spoonful of sand three times a day until my attacks passed away. I tried the experiment and it worked. Within two months I was cured. Today, within 10 minutes after eating a spoonful, I am capable of any work, and I think I work harder than any man in the United States."

Find Largest Ice Cave.

PLEASURES OF ANTICIPATION

Desire is Much, but Realization is Less Colorful and Pleasurable.

The housewife who complained that she had longed for ten years to possess a brass bed, but now that she can get one she discovers that she wants a Napoleon bed in mahogany, has unwittingly summed up the whole phenomenon of human life. Practically all of our pleasures come from anticipation. Realization is much less colorful and pleasurable. The woman who had pictured for years a nice solid brass bed sitting on her rose-tinted carpet beside the mahogany dressing table, and had warmed her spirit in the rosy flames of that anticipation, has practically exhausted all the possibilities in the ownership of such a treasure. The treasure itself amounts to much less.

It is so with life. In youth we look forward longingly to the day when we can buy all the chocolate creams that we can eat, but on arriving at that very few satisfy us. Anticipation dwelt upon a big round seal muff, but realization shows us that round muffs are passe, and that, besides, muff is the thing. We dream of an automobile—and before it is realized the flying machine appears on the horizon. Desire is much; realization is little. Give us our anticipations.

Origin of "Yonkers."

Patron Van de Donck, in the years after 1642, lived such a serene and robust life on his Hudson river estate that the Dutch villagers called his manor farm, "De jonkheer's land"—the gentleman's land; later compressed by the frugal English into "Yonkers."

Du Quesne's First Fight.

A monument of the gallant Admiral Du Quesne has just been provided at Bouchet, where he was buried in 1688, and the story of his first fight is therefore apposite. He was the son of a ship builder, and at the age of 17 was placed in command of one of his father's vessels. He sailed forth, equipped a Dutch vessel, boarded it, compelled it to surrender and brought it into port. Not until he had been carried through the streets in triumph on the shoulders of his fellow townsmen did it occur to the officials that France and Holland were at peace. That fact being admitted, legal proceedings had to follow, as the result of which the youthful captain was warned to be more careful another time. Nevertheless, he heard of his exploit, and without considering the comity of nations offered him a commission in the navy.

His Musical Name.

A correspondent reports the finding of a decidedly curious name in one of the records of York during the reign of Elizabeth—Marmaduke Clarionett. It sounds like a character in a latter day burlesque—Marmaduke and Quorley.

Where Searchers Hope to Find The Lost Balloon America II.

The above picture shows the circle in which the thousands of searchers trust to find the two daring aeronauts who were on board the America II, when it left St. Louis Oct. 17 in the great balloon race. The map is in error in showing the direction the balloon took after leaving St. Louis as it is one of the three gas bags that passed over Janesville on the morning of the 18th. The America II was seen and spoken to by several farmers flying south and east of the city, being then quite low. They asked where they were and how far it was to the lake. Evidently the balloon drifted eastward, later crossing Lake Michigan as it was seen at Maple City, Michigan on Tuesday afternoon. This circle shows the wide area which is being searched for the missing balloonists. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of the Dominion of Canada, who is adding in every way possible the search along the Canadian border and inland, and the two occupants of the balloon, Alan Hawley and Augustus Post, both of New York, are also shown in the picture. Many who are familiar with the conditions expressed great fear that the unfortunate aeronauts found a watery grave in Lake Huron or Lake Michigan. But in view of the fact that the Dunseldorf landed with sixteen sacks of ballast it is thought that the America II could have easily covered the distance, carrying at least eight bags. And on account of the determination of Mr. Hawley to go to the utmost limit of his ability until every bag of ballast was thrown over it is thought he may have traveled some little distance past the landing place of the Dunseldorf. If this was the case the aeronauts are in the wilds of Canada, doubtless exhausted or killed by the attacks of wild animals.

application for membership. As it is, the club is able to bring artists to Janesville that rarely may be seen outside of the largest cities, and then the price of admission would probably amount to more than the season's ticket of Apollo members.

Miss Fornia, who is to be seen here Nov. 1st, has but two engagements in the west, one of which is at Janesville. The yearly dues are $3.00 which includes admittance to all the entertainments of the club for the season. This season at least a half dozen high class entertainments will be given, so that the cost for each will be reduced to a nominal sum.

Catarh and Blood Disease—Doctors Failed to Cure.

Miss Mabel P. Dawkins, 1214 Lafayette St., Port Wayne, Ind., writes: "For three years I was troubled with catarh and blood disease. I tried several doctors and a dozen different remedies, but none of them did me any good. A friend told me of Head's Sarsaparilla. I took two bottles of this medicine and was as well and strong as ever. I feel like a different person and recommend Head's to any one suffering from catarh." ## THEATRE

"The Girl in the Taxi." Interacta runs high in the announcement that "The Girl in the Taxi" will be seen at the Myers Theatre Wednesday, Oct. 26. This play has been a long time reaching this city owing to the great success which attended its production in Chicago and Boston, in which two cities it remained the reigning triumph as a long-prodigious entertainment for thirty solid weeks. But we are to catch a glimpse of it at last and if reports from other Europe. "The man a't come from the conservatories of Rome and Naples, many of them follow students with their brilliant leader. The interest in the band naturally centers in Signor Luigi D'Urbano, a veritable wizard of the baton, who at 23 stands as one of the greatest band masters of his time. He also has won distinction as a composer, his compositions being greatly in demand by the best bands and orchestras in the country. As an added feature to the Royal Italian band,

This season the Apollo Club will increase its membership, and all music lovers of Janesville are invited to become members. Every lover of refined music is asked to send in their cities where "The Girl in the Taxi" has delighted its thousands of playgoers may be taken as a criterion, we may look forward to the greatest attraction the theatre has offered in years.

D'Urbano's Royal Italian Band of forty-five artists, who will appear at Myers Theatre commencing Thursday, Oct. 27, matinee, for eight concerts, is without question one of the finest musical organizations of its kind in the country. It renders the classical productions of the old masters with a perfection of technique and a comprehension of theme that appeals to all who understand and appreciate music of the highest order. It is also happy in the rendition of music designated as "popular" and perhaps no band in the country is so well equipped to please all classes of music lovers. The personnel of this organization is composed of solo artists of the first rank, who have all previously distinguished themselves in the musical centers of Europe. The Apollo Club this season has very elaborate plans for a program that will be a delight to every music lover in Southern Wisconsin. The season is to be opened with one of the foremost Grand Opera singers of America, Miss Rita Fornia, and American girl who received her early training in New York and later made her debut in Hamburg. She studied with Jean de Reszay in Paris. For the past two years she has been engaged with the Metropolitan Opera Co. Miss Fornia is handsome, artistic,

The Inside Facts of a Shoemaker's Fight with the Leather Trust

Facts We Want Every Reader
of This Paper to Know

A shoemaker up in New York State by the name of George F. Johnson learned his trade at the bench.

Over in Massachusetts a young man, H. B. Endicott, who had won his way by hard knocks, became a leather expert and later a leather merchant at Boston.

In 1891 these two men got together. One was an expert in shoes; the other an expert in leather. No two men ever knew their subjects better.

They formed a partnership. They built a shoe factory in Broome County, New York State.

They made good shoes, and they did well. They were up in the country with no big city rents or high operating expenses. They were plain people themselves, and the money saved in expenses was put into the quality of their shoes.

Everything went well until along in 1893, when certain interests began quietly to buy up tanneries in all parts of the country.

One tannery after another was either closed or taken over and operated by the combination until, like every other shoe concern in the United States, Endicott, Johnson & Co. awoke one day to find themselves in the grip of the Leather Trust.

The price of leather went up. Endicott, Johnson & Co. were no worse off than all other shoe manufacturers, and they paid the advance.

Then they noticed that the leather was not as good as they would like to see it. That touched them on a sensitive spot.

They had stood for the high price. When it came to starving the quality of the leather, they rebelled.

Sale leather is sold by weight, and it began to look like somebody was loading the leather with chemicals instead of feeding it in the tanning and finishing process.

Inside of thirty days Endicott, Johnson & Co. decided to build their own tanneries.

The Trade said they were crazy. It was an unheard-of thing—a shoe concern tanning its own leather—a stupendous undertaking; it meant hundreds of thousands of dollars and almost insurmountable difficulties.

It's a long story—the story of those tanneries with literally miles of masonry and acres of tan-vats. But they were built, and successfully operated.

Some dealers are not as quick as others to fall into line. A retail shoe dealer has his friends and his old business associates from whom he has been buying goods for years.

He has a store full of other shoes perhaps, and he doesn't like to break into his lines with another make. Sometimes a shoe dealer likes to have his own name on every pair of shoes and keep the wearer from knowing where they are made. This enables him to keep the matter of profit entirely in his own hands.

It is not always the shoe dealer's fault. Some large wholesale shoe houses pay expert salesmen $10,000 to $15,000 a year just because of their ability to go out and sell the retail shoe dealer and keep him satisfied.

Endicott, Johnson & Co. do not employ fancy talent on their selling force; and they are somewhat particular as to the kind of dealer that sells their shoes.

After they have worked so hard to reduce the cost of shoes to the wearer and cut out the four intervening profits they want to do business with the shoe dealer who is willing to sell their goods at a fair living profit—a dealer who would rather make his money by a small margin on many sales than a big profit on a few sales.

The selection of the right dealers to handle the Endicott-Johnson line is a problem just as was the building of their tanneries and the getting rid of the shoe jobber.

Endicott, Johnson & Co. can sell all the shoes they make each year. But their business is growing every year and the future of their business depends upon the service they render to the wearer.

It is a question that the wearer must help them decide.

Now as a buyer and wearer of shoes every reader of this paper has a right to vote on this question of buying shoes independent of all trusts.

Are you content to go on paying four profits on every pair of shoes you buy?

Are you satisfied to pay tribute to the hide trust, the leather trust, the leather jobber and the shoe jobber—and about how long do you think you are going to submit to it?

Would you like to see Endicott-Johnson shoes sold in your town?

If you would, who do you think ought to sell them?

Fill out the coupon below and return it to Endicott, Johnson & Co., Endicott, N. Y.

Endicott, Johnson & Co., Endicott, N. Y.

Dear Sirs:—

I would like to have Endicott-Johnson shoes sold in this town. My choice of a dealer would be

Fossils and Gold.

In Alaska the bones, and often the entire bodies of extinct animals, such as the mammoth, the mastodon, the reindeer, and the bison, are found most abundantly in layers of soil directly above gold bearing gravels. So intimate is this association between fossil animal remains and auriferous deposits that one scientist, who has lately explored Alaska, says fossils serve prospectors as indexes of the metallic richness of the soil. In ancient times both the gold and the bones and bodies of the animals were deposited at the bottoms of valleys by action of rivers and smaller streams, many of which have now disappeared. Consequently the appearance of fossils is, it is claimed, an almost certain indication that gold will be found in the neighborhood. The cabins of many miners are ornamented with huge tusks and antlers unearthed in the diggings.

Nice's Pumpkin Festival.

The pumpkin festival at Nice is one of those old-world customs rescued by popular sentiment from a gradual decay that was hastening toward oblivion. It is a celebration singularly unique, in that the wildest exuberance of spirit alternates with serious religious ceremonies, representations of art, and promiscuous business dealings—a celebration so quaint and so little like the usual productions of modern mankind that it leaves one with the impression of having witnessed a scene idealized upon the stage rather than an actual festival of the present practical age. Yet the pumpkin custom undoubtedly reflects the character and individuality of the residents, the inhabitants of Nice, whose deep religious instincts, innate refinement of feeling and intense love of the beautiful were the underlying forces which prompted them to revive a time-honored custom without the least trace of vulgar advertisement or sordid materialism to mar its perfect harmony. —Wide World Magazine.

GOLD DUST Makes Hard Water as Soft as Rain Water

Every good housewife knows the value of nice, soft rain water for washing clothes and for all cleansing purposes. It isn't always convenient to secure rain water, however. Neither is it necessary. GOLD DUST will soften the hardest water, take out the mineral substances and make it so near like the water that falls from the clouds that you couldn't tell the difference.

Think what this means to you on wash-day. There's a deal of difference between the action of hard and soft water for all cleansing. Just a little GOLD DUST added to the water renders it soft and brings out the greatest cleansing value.

Try it the next time you wash clothes or dishes.

GOLD DUST really cleanses so easily that it relieves housework of all its drudgery.

GOLD DUST is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package offers greater economy.

You Can Be Made Well If You Will Come to the Chiropractors

Every disease known to mankind yields to Chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic is a science of old truths, the most wonderful aid to mankind in centuries. It's a new science that analyzes and locates unerringly the physical cause of disease, and provides a means of adjusting or removing this cause more promptly, radically and permanently than any other method known at the present time. These may seem bold statements to make. Yet there is plenty of proof R. Puddicombe to back them up. If you are sick and suffer, J. N. Puddicombe Inc. If you have tried the medical profession and failed to be cured, come to us. Ninety-eight per cent of the people that come to the Chiropractors are made well, and this notwithstanding the fact that 75 per cent of these same people have been given up by the medical profession. Call for an examination and advice in regard to your troubles. Even though slight, they may be nature's danger signals of serious ailments.

Tomorrow try a pound of Golden Blend Coffee and see how much better coffee you can buy for 28c when it is scientifically blended, properly roasted and received fresh every week.

Coffee is not entirely a matter of price. Because you have been paying more than 28c is no reason why you should continue to do so. Golden Blend is now being used in hundreds of homes where higher priced coffee had been used for years, not entirely because they save from 2c to 7c a pound, but because they get as much or more satisfaction from Golden Blend than from higher priced coffees.

Golden Blend is the choicest fully matured beans, selected by experts, tested by cup for quality; it never varies, it's always rich and delightfully aromatic. It is beyond any question the very best 28c coffee sold in Southern Wisconsin.

We sell other good grades of coffees from 20c a pound to 38c a pound, and with every purchase you make at this store we give premium checks. These checks may be redeemed at any time for hundreds of beautiful gifts in fine chinaware, porcelain, enamel ware, cut glass, rugs, novelties, kitchen ware, etc., etc. Our store is filled with displays of these free gifts. ## NO MORE DANDRUFF

The People's Drug Co. Sell the Remedy that is Guaranteed to Kill all Dandruff Germs.

Of course you and every intelligent reader of the Gazette knows that dandruff is caused by a germ.

Dr. Sagerband, the great French physician, proved this beyond a doubt.

In order to rid your scalp of filthy dandruff you must kill the germ. There is a hair dressing called Parisian Sage which is now sold in every town in America, that is guaranteed to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair, splitting hair and scalp itch in two weeks, or money back.

If you have dandruff get a large 50 cent bottle today and rid yourself of it. Remember that if dandruff germs are not destroyed in time, the hair will surely fall out and baldness will follow.

Here's proof of what Parisian Sage has done; it will do more. It is the finest hair grower and hair dressing in the world, and people who use it regularly will never grow bald. Mrs. John Stomor, Evansville, Ind., writes on June 3, 1910:

"I used Parisian Sage and found it very successful; it removes dandruff and gives the hair life. I only used two bottles. I know it is a cure for dandruff."

HEREDITARY INFLUENCE.

A maimed hand, acquired in a quarrel generations ago, has been uniformly transmitted, only occasionally missing a member of one of the several branches of the family, proving that acquired characteristics are transmissible. All characteristics and talents are hereditary, including predisposition to disease, but not all equally, and environment modifies all. The hereditary influence is most potent during gestation, and the environmental, during childhood. The plasticity of the matter and the temper of the mind are the fundamental conditions in hereditary influence, and these can be influenced, the former by food selection, the latter by education.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

OF COURSE you heard the scandal about Mr. Lathimer and Mrs. Rice?

"No, what?"
"Why, he has been staying right down near the Rice's cottage and going about everywhere with Mrs. Rice, sailing and driving and riding. Everybody is talking about them. I guess Mr. Rice is the only person in the settlement who doesn't know what's going on. That's the way it always is, you know, the last person in town to know about a scandal is the woman's husband. But, my dear, I don't see how that can be news to you. I told your sister, Marcella, all about it yesterday."

"Marcella! Well, you might as well expect me to hear of it by your telling it to that lamp-post out there. Anything like that always stops with her."
All of which conversation, to which I listened to be a casual listener, I have repeated that I may say, "Three cheers and a tiger for Marcella!"
"Can you think of any prouder praise than her sister's complaint, 'Anything like that always stops with her.'"

I can't.
Not long ago I met, twice in the same week, a young married man and a young woman, to whom he had been very attentive before his marriage, together in a city several miles from their home.

When I came home my natural impulse, of course, was to speak of what I had seen. Several times I actually had my mouth open to say, "Whom do you think I saw in it—today?" And then I thought of what I admired in Marcella, and closed it.

Later I chanced to find out that the presence of these two in the city was absolutely innocent, that they were there on an errand of kindness, and that the wife knew and entirely approved.

And, as you can imagine, I was very thankful to Marcella. Suppose I had told what I saw and had let the story be passed on with the inevitable addition of innuendo and suspicion. For, even if the truth had started to pursue the scandal half an hour afterwards, it would probably never have caught up with the mistake.

At a social affair recently I had a chance to see a sort of cross section of a rumor in process of growth.

"Eleanor is sick," someone said to me.

I had reasons for thinking that a mistake, so I set out to trace the information to its source, and this is what I found:

"That someone had said, 'Where is Eleanor?'"

"That someone else had answered, 'Why, she isn't here. Isn't that queer?'"

"That someone else had answered, 'Why, she isn't here. Isn't that queer?'"

"That the next time Eleanor's whereabouts were in question, someone had glibly explained, 'Why, Eleanor is ill.'"

Do you want to be a party to passing on rumors oftentimes as ill-founded as this one?

Or do you want to be Marcella's kind? Which?

Some lovely blouses, simple in line, but usually high in price, are made up in cotton or silk muslin, hand embroidered in violet design and yellow of blue cream lace run with dull, lustrous color. This attractive model in dark blue chiffon is made over a very soft dull rose silk, and has a little gumpie and cuffs of blue cream lace run with dull silver.

The KITCHEN
GABINET

Off other's sake to make life sweet,
Though thorns may pierce into your feet,
For other's sake to walk each day,
As if joy helped you all the way—
While in your heart may be a grave
That makes it hard to be so brave—
Herein to love.

Simple and Dainty Desserts.
What to have for dessert is the question that arises several hundred times a year. Pies and puddings, like the poor, are "always with us," but are less wholesome than simpler desserts and fruits. Toast a few marshmallows cut in quarters and serve with a few almonds in whipped cream. A most delicious frozen dish is made of two lemons, two oranges, two cups of sugar and two cups of cream; freeze as usual. Gelatine jellies are great favorites, easy to make and so light that they make an ideal dessert after a hearty dinner.

Jellied Prunes.
Pick over and wash half a pound of prunes and soak several hours in cold water to cover, then cook in the same water until tender. Remove the stones and cut in quarters; to the prune water add enough boiling water to make two cups; soak half a box of gelatine in half a cup of water and stir over the heat until dissolved; add one cupful of sugar and a quarter of a cupful of lemon juice; turn into a mold, stirring occasionally to prevent the prunes from sinking. Serve with sugar and cream.

Figs and Lemon Sauce.
Soak figs several hours in cold water, then cook in water to cover until plump; add a fourth of a cup of lemon juice to the water when nearly done. Drain the figs and serve in a glass dish, with the juice slightly thickened with cornstarch. Chill and serve with whipped cream, flavored with lemon rind.

Banana Cantaloupe.
Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatine in half a cupful of cold water. Beat the whites of two eggs slightly, add a fourth of a cup of powdered sugar and three-fourths of a cup of scalded cream; cook over hot water until it thickens; add the soaked gelatine and two-thirds of a cupful of sugar; strain into a pan set in ice water, add four mashed bananas and one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Stir until it begins to thicken, then fold in the whip from three cups of cream. Line the mold with lady fingers, trimmed to fit the mold, turn in the mixture and spread evenly and chill.

By MARY RUSSELL.

In the mad rush to do everything we usually do a little bit of each and make a general haul of our lives.

It is much sadder to select one or two particular duties or avocations, and go at them with all our might than to attempt to make our lives into every great movement of the world. As a rule this strange desire for universal knowledge, which is rather a feminine vice than masculine, is due far more to curiosity than a desire for knowledge. Just plain human ingenuity which makes a village gossip is at the root of many a woman's reputation for desiring universal knowledge.

We "want to know" how a flying machine works. We want our own automobiles. We want to send for a plumber or but will device some ingenious contraption to save him off. We run after new fangled religions and cults. We go in for all sorts of "culture" classes and still we are restless.

If we would only take a passing interest in such matters as we are not sufficiently interested in to master, and should devote ourselves to serious study of one or two subjects we would make much greater progress.

Where is the fault? Does it lie deep down in our inherent nature—or is it due to our public and private school training in the gentle art of snatching?

We are Cook's tourists in almost every walk in life. We run and jump and skim through the most interesting worlds of art and literature, and science, and touch with a light and airy touch at all points. We retain a general impression of the interesting subjects but we really know but little.

When a man or woman devotes a great deal of time to a special line of study he or she is dubbed a crank or perhaps has to meet the cry of fundamentalists. It is not such a very bad thing after all. Better have a real good find than to have none. You are sure of a real interest in the world if you are a real master of some particular line of study.

One woman who had passed fifty has taken up the study of Latin. She is devoting her time and hard work to mastering a dead language. When someone laughed at her she said simply—and yet with infinite pathos—"when you have no children you must fill your life with something."

That is true. When there are no children the life is indeed empty. Long days—with no joy in the future! Long nights—with only loneliness to look forward to. Surely the Latin student is wise to provide a game which will fill her days when she reaches the age where empty arms and heart make an echoing hall for all the loneliness of life.

Then take up a real study—not a pretense. This is for the childless man or woman who cannot fill the days with games. Even though you play "bridge" and all of its train of card games, still for the lonely hours study some one subject. There will come a time when you will bless the inspiration which led you to begin when still young enough to bring some freshness and enthusiasm to it.

If one could be always young there would be little cause for making this provision. Age in the one thing we can none of us dodge successfully. We may look young. We may even deceive ourselves into the belief that we are still in the heyday of our lives.

MODISH AFTERNOON GOWN.
Green is one of the season's favorite colors, and above given illustrates a gown of cachemire de soie in this shade. There are numerous shades, however, and one should be especially particular in choosing the most becoming. The style of skirt shown is quite original, the ruffle front taking up with side plait in form of a wide panel. Fullness at bottom is confined in a deep band around foot, but not in exaggerated fashion. Bodice corresponds with skirt as to plait, which extend from shoulder to waist line. Chemise and stock are white dotted net and heavy white lace is prettily arranged under tiny box plait in front and under arms at sides.

The Exiled Bucket.
It can't be possible that this new law affecting drinking cups and other receptacles really abolishes the "old oaken bucket!" It is true, of course, that in several towns of the state the well and its bucket are still in public use, and a man with an impudently thrust prefers the bucket to the tin cup that generally accompanies it. But for sentiment's sake somebody should have been shrewd enough when the law was enacted to exempt the wellhead from the clutches of scientific progress. Hail to the disappearance of the public drinking cup, but "weep" for the exiled oak bucket!

Liberia.

Liberia, the West African negro republic, was founded mainly through the efforts of American quakers, organized under the title of the Pennsylvania Colonist society. The chief bar to the development of Liberia is a law by which white men are not allowed to hold property in the country. Capital has, therefore, gone elsewhere and Liberia possesses none of the resources of modern civilization.

DESCRIBES SCENE AT ELLIS ISLAND

MISS MARY JACOBS, FORMER JANESVILLE TEACHER, HAS
PLEASANT EXPERI-ENCE.

SOME INTERESTING PICTURES

Witnesses the Landing of a Thousand
New Citizens at the Melting
Pot of the World.

Miss Mary Jacobs, who formerly had charge of the kindergarten department of the Jefferson school and who is now studying at the University of New York, writes an entertaining account of a visit to Ellis Island and of the impressions which the landing of the emigrants made. Her letter follows in part:

We took the government ferry of the department of commerce and labor and rode out toward Ellis Island.
On our left we saw the Statue of Liberty and Governor's Island and very soon we could see the five buildings of the emigrant station which are built of red brick with white stone trimming. As visitors we were up stairs on the ferry; below were a good many going over to meet friends.

Upon landing we went directly to a large building where the foreigners
first go after their arrival. As we entered the door the first sensation was a strong odor of disinfectant. Everything about the building was stone, tile and iron with the exception of the doors and benches. The place was clean and well-lighted with skylights as well as windows near the roof.

We went up stairs to a gallery
where we could view the entire scene.
There were doors opening off this gallery into rooms which are used as doctor's offices. Soon after we had taken our vantage point above, a big group sounded and we were told that a thousand emigrants were just landing,
having been brought from the quarantine station in ferry boats. They came up the stairway in a single line
and at the top they showed their passports which are given them on board
the ship.

Then they are about equally divided and they passed along two railroad tracks at the upper end of which is a doctor who glances quickly at each one and feels of their arms, perhaps.
If he thinks there is anything doubtful about the person he puts a chalk mark on the sleeve and they pass on to a doctor at the other end of the line who examines the eyes of every man, woman and child by lifting the eyelids. If they have a chalk mark or anything suspicious they are detained here at one side and men and women are placed in separate rooms
where they undergo a careful examination. The others are passed on into other spaces allotted according to their nationality where they await their turn.

At the end of each of these spaces
is an official who looks over the credentials of each person as given by the ship company. They also show their money, a certain amount of which is required. They are a motley crowd and looked around anxiously as they couldn't understand all these maneuvers, and it seemed hard when some member of a little family was detained, and they all looked more or less frightened.

There were all manner of dresses,
gay head dresses, and odd looking clothes of all sorts, but through it all they clung to each other and the babies all trusted to the safe shelter of their mother's arms. It would make you weep to think of the unknown
hardships and trials ahead of them,
but to many it means greater freedom.
One woman, who looked like a Greek to me, was dressed in all-white silk and we wondered if she was going to meet her lover. She fixed herself very carefully and she got through very quickly.

After the interview at the desk
some are detained again for various reasons and some are discharged and go out to another building where they find their friends. If they have any waiting for them. There is a large dining room all tiled and well-lit where those who are detained are fed; there is a hospital for some who are ill, and a ticket office where they find interpreters to help them exchange their money into United States dollars and buy tickets to any part of the United States or Canada.

Laurels are put up in boxes holding enough for one person for two or three days. In these packages is the food baked by each particular nationality and the printing outside is in their own language. Many of the people pass through the lines quickly and are carried over to New York by ferry. It is a solemn and pathetic sight to see these people arriving in their new home and one which will be long remembered.

Miss Jacobs has many friends in Janesville who are most interested in her work at the New York university and the interest that Miss Helen Gould has taken in her.

SOCIAL UNION IN OPENING MEETING

HELD FIRST MEETING OF THE YEAR AT Y. M. C. A. BUILDING
LAST EVENING.

THE MODERN SOCIAL LIFE

Was the Subject For Discussion and Many Interesting Phases of Social Problems Presented.

Members of the Social Union Club
enjoyed a profitable and interesting discussion at their opening meeting for the year last evening at the Y. M.
C. A. Between seventy-five and one hundred were present and partook of the homelike repast and listened to the numbers on the program. At the opening of the program the committee on subjects submitted a report and of the several topics presented the question, "Principles Underlying the Political Parties," was chosen with Stow Lovejoy as leader of the November meeting. There will be six meetings of the club in usual this year,
but the December gathering will be unlimited.

M. P. Richardson acted as leader of last evening's discussion, the topic
for which was, "The Modern Social Life." In introducing the first speaker Mr. Richardson gave a short explanation of what the social life meant in this connection. He said that the matter would be considered in its broad sense of the relation of one man to another in the community.

Amusements, Wisa and Otherwise
was the opening subject which Prof.
Wm. Vlynn handled in an entertaining manner. He took the view point that amusements are necessary to furnish a let-down and relaxation after the strenuous work of the modern business life. They refreshed and invigorated, or at least they should, and the harder we work the harder we ought to play. There are various forms of amusements to which we can go for the needed rest, the good ones
are wise, the bad ones, otherwise.
Any amusement becomes otherwise if it is carried to excess, but anything
not too light, and not too frivolous,
which will divert our minds, is a Godsend.

Prof. J. S. Taylor spoke on the topic, Musical Conditions in Janesville at the present time. Every home in Janesville, Mr. Taylor said, undoubtedly has in it a musical instrument of some kind, but the music which is played in the majority of homes is deplorable. "Tears," emotional, ragtime pieces with flashy words are the ones mostly found on our pianos.
He severely criticized the Five Cent Theatres and said that not only was the character of the songs sung of a low order, but the singers have not good voices nor do the accompanists
know how to accompany.

Our band was characterized as a poor organization because the people will not take enough interest in it to make it worth while for the men to practice. We ought to support a band by subscription and hire a leader and do in our neighboring town of Edgerton. Our church choir need better support. More of the young men should get into church work through the medium of the choir. On the whole music in Janesville is of a low order and there are a number of useful remedies. Parents should prohibit trashy songs; we should support a city band and orchestra by subscription; men should join church
choirs; the Apollo club should be better supported; and we should look for opportunities to hear all the good music we can.

Prof. T. M. Kundson had for his subject, Responsibilities of the Modern Life. In dealing with this important phase of the question Mr.
Kundson said that the man today finds himself presented with a peculiar condition; we need more time to have careless and more time to manage with our fellow men. We are inclined to place too much emphasis on the
on the material accomplishments of the day, and not enough attention is put on the life of the spirit. Success is measured by the possession of worldly goods, and the deeper side of our natures, the spirit, the development of which is life, is overlooked.
We need more time to cultivate this soul life and should guard against being carried away in the whirl of modern enterprise.

Reverend Wm. Williams discussed the topic, The Relation of the Church to the Modern Social Life. Churches, he said, have a wonderful opportunity for adding in social benefit. Many organizations are fostered by them with the whole purpose of offering attractive social centers. Greater co-operation on the part of church members is needed, however, and the churches cannot do it all. Mr. Williams expressed the desire that public playgrounds and a public bath be established and supported out of the public fund. He believed such institutions would work wonders for the boys and girls of Janesville.

Mr. Williams' talk closed the regular program, but there were a number of responses to the call for further discussion. The question of establishing a Y. W. C. A. was brought up and various problems concerning it were spoken of. The difficulty of starting such an institution were brought forward; there is lack of financial aid; no efficient leader is at hand; another important problem is the social caste which is said to exist among young women and the difficulty of getting them together upon a social plane.

It was further pointed out that people could not be forced into things,
and they are bound to seek the amusements and associations which appeal to them. Most young women are provided for by their homes, which are their proper place. A Y. W. C. A. is a better place than a social center,
was the general opinion, as it gave a permanent and lasting foundation upon Christian principles. In the meantime we should do what we can to improve the moral tone of our city and offer cleaner attractions for the young people.

There was food for much thought in the various views which were presented and it is to be hoped that some definite action for social betterment may be the result. It was a very profitable and instructive meeting to anyone who attended with interest.

Three Miles in 3 Days Too Slow, So Farmer Gets Auto Verdict

Back to the Plow Horses for Wisconsin Man Who Fails to Get Out of Chicago in Newly Purchased Car.

It took a jury in the municipal court
in Chicago, less than half an hour to decide in favor of C. A. Zickert, a Beloit, Wis., farmer, when they learned that it took him three days
to travel three miles in a newly purchased automobile from the Times Square Auto company, 1322 Michigan avenue, to the corner of Jackson highway and Center avenue on the way home. Zickert was granted a verdict of $613 against the auto company.
Zickert has now gone back to the old-fashioned horse, and gives autoists that pass him in a cloud of dust a few harsh words of decision, for he knows full well that their trouble will come later.
Last June Zickert and his son came to Chicago, and the former purchased a second hand machine from the automobile concern for $500.
Zickert alleges that the agreement between himself and the company was that the machine should be delivered at Beloit, and the latter contended
the delivery was to be in Chicago.
Zickert knew little about the automobile. His son knew little more, and a chauffeur was engaged to pilot the son to Beloit and teach him how to run the machine.
The son's testimony contained the following:
June 15—Day bright and clear. Son and chauffeur start, after mechanics
push the automobile out of garage.
Machine travels nicely until Auditorium is reached. There machine halts, refusing to move. Automobile ollied and again moves several blocks.
Stubbiness is again evident. The machine is oiled and again proceeds several more blocks. Another halt and another start. Machine absolutely refuses to move and is dragged to a garage.
June 16—Fresh start, and machine
proceeds westward to Jackson highway. Jackson highway and Center avenue machine makes it final halt.
Machine is dragged to garage and son
goes home by way of railroad.
The defendant's claim was that the former had purchased the car as he had seen it, and left his son in the repair shops to watch the work, and that the company had not promised to deliver it to Beloit or "fix it up."

Do You Realize?

That despondency in women is a mental condition often traceable to some distinctly female ill!

Women who are well do not have the blues, neither are they irritable and restless. Derangement of the female organism breeds all kinds of miserable feelings such as backache, headache, and bearing-down feelings. Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There is no doubt that it has made many remarkable cures of female ills after all other means had failed. There is hardly a day that some woman does not write us that this simple old medicine, made only of roots and herbs, has cured her of a severe illness.

Here are two such letters—read them—they are genuine and reliable.

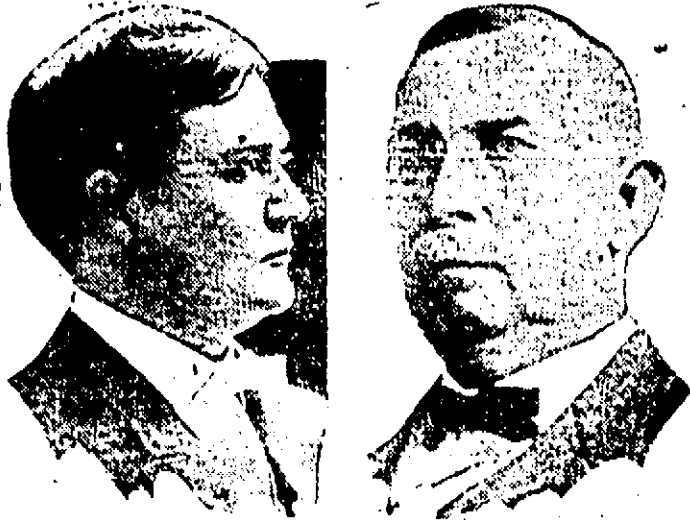

Platen, Pa.—"When I wrote to you first I was troubled with backache and was so nervous that I would cry at the least noise, it would startle me so. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies, and I don't have any more crying spells. I sleep sound and my catarrh is better thanks to your advice. I will recommend your medicine to all sufferers."—Mrs. Mary Halstead, Platen, Pa., Box 98.

Walcott, N. Dakota—"I had inflammation which caused pains in my sides, and my back ached all the time. I was so blue that I felt like crying if any one even said 'How poorly you look to-day.' I wrote to you for advice and got it at once. I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills, and I began to feel better and looked better before I finished the fourth bottle of medicine."—Mrs. Amelia Dahl, Walcott, N. Dakota.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

RAILROADS SEEK FLAWS TO DEFEAT MANN ACT

Attorneys of Roads Plan to Devise Means to Test Law's Constitutionality.

New York, Oct. 26.—One hundred or more lawyers, representing every important railroad in the United States, are in secret meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria, discussing the new Mann-Elkins railroad act. At the end of the first day's session the chairman, Col. Henry L. Stowe of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, sent out this message:

"Two legal representatives of the railroads of the United States are convened to go over the Mann-Elkins act thoroughly, and to try and see if there are not points in it against which attacks may legally be made. The lawyers believe the act—which makes a supreme court out of the interstate commerce commission, so far as railroads are concerned—is unconstitutional. They are seeking for some clause which may be attacked on the ground of unconstitutionality."

The meetings, Colonel Stowe said, would continue at least until Friday. These same lawyers during the summer held a series of secret meetings at Portsmouth, N. H. That convention was adjourned until the present time.

JOHNSTONE SOARS 7,303 FEET.

Establishes New Aero Height Record—Encounters Raging Snow Storm.

New York, Oct. 26.—Desperate duels of skill and daring at altitudes over one mile in the air and spectacular battles between the mad fliers in the twenty-mile cross-country speed contests marked the fourth day of the international aviation contest at Belmont Park.

Regardless of the lowering storm clouds in the sky, Ralph Johnstone, the Wright aviator, established a new American aeroplane height record by soaring to the dizzy altitude of 7,303 feet, where he encountered a raging snow storm. When he alighted an hour and fifteen minutes later there were still icebergs on his goggles. Count Jacques de Lesseps, in his Heriot monoplane, fighting for supremacy with Arch Hoxsey, another Wright flyer, winged his way beyond the black thunder clouds at an altitude of 6,831 feet, lost his way in the sky. When he managed to fight his way down to a point where he could distinguish the landscape below he found himself twenty miles away from Belmont Park.

One of the sample cases was recovered by the police. It is said the Seattle man, whose name was not learned by the Chicago police, was arrested while trying to dispose of the jewelry.

Denouncing a Reincarnation.

Whereas an ignorant upstart in astrology has publicly endeavored to persuade the world that he is the late John Partridge, who died the 28th of March, 1718, these are to certify all whom it may concern, that the true John Partridge was not only dead at that time, but continues so to the present day. Beware of counterfeits, for such are abroad.—From a London Newspaper, 1718.

THE FORTUNE HUNTER

Novelized by
LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
From the Play of the Same Name by
WINCHELL SMITH

Copyright, 1910, by Winchell Smith and Louis Joseph Vance

Sam wasn't in the best of spirits. His evergreen optimism seldom withered, but in spite of all that had already been accomplished in behalf of the store, in spite of the rosy aspect of his declining fortunes and his confidence in and affection for Duncum, Sam was worried. He had been over to the bank once even at that early hour, but Blinky Lockwood had driven out of town to see about foreclosing one of his numerous mortgages in the neighborhood, and his note, which fell due at the bank that day, was still a weight upon Sam's mind.

Roland and Burnham found him wandering nervously round the store, alternately taking his hat down from the peg, as if minded to make a second trip to the bank and replacing it as he realized that patience was his part.

"Why, hello, Roland!" he cried cheerfully, bringing up his hat for perhaps the twentieth time. And, "How do you do, sir?" he greeted the stranger.

"Good morning, sir," said Burnham pleasantly.

"Say, Sam," Roland blundered with his usual adroitness, "this gentleman—"

Burnham's hand fell heavily on his forehead.

"What's that, Roland?" Sam turned curiously to them.

"Oh, nothing," was—just going to say that this gentleman's my friend from New York, Mr. Burnham, and we just happened to look in."

"The friend you were going to write to about my burner?" inquired Sam.

It was here that Roland got a look from Mr. Burnham that withered him completely.

"Why, no, Mr. Graham," Burnham interposed deftly. "Mr. Burnette must have been talking of some one else he knew in New York."

"Didn't know he knew more'n one there," Sam observed mildly.

Burnham's glance jumped wildly to Sam's face, but withdrew reassured, having detected therein nothing but the old man's kindly and simple nature.

"At all events," he continued, "I don't remember hearing anything about the matter (what did you call it? A burner, eh?) from Mr. Burnette."

"I spoke Roland forgot," Sam allowed. "He's an busy courtin' our pretty girls, Mr. Burnham."

"Yes, that was it," Roland put in hastily, seeing his chance to mend matters. "I did intend to write you about it, Mr. Burnham, but it kind of slipped my mind. We've had a lot of important business over to the bank recently."

"By the way, Roland, did you just come from the bank? Is Mr. Lockwood back yet?"

"No, I got on this morning. I don't think he is, Sam. Did you want to see him?"

"Well, yes," Sam admitted. "I guess you know about that, Roland."

"Mean business, sometimes, asking favors of these bankers, eh, Mr. Graham?" Burnham remarked.

Graham nodded doubtfully. "Yes, it is unpleasant," he admitted confidentially. "You see, there's a note of mine came due today, and I'm not able to take care of it or pay the interest just now. But I guess I'll be all right."

Mr. Lockwood's kind, very kind.

"I'm afraid you're a little too sure, Sam," Roland contributed tactfully. "When there's money due Lockwood he wants it, real most times he gets it."

"What was this—burner?"

ed a new type thrashing machine once, but I couldn't get anybody to take hold of it. You see, I haven't any money, Mr. Burnham."

"How would you like to talk it over with me some time? I'm interested in such things—as a sort of side issue."

"Will you?" Sam's eagerness was not to be disguised.

"He glad to. Tell me, how did you get your power?"

"From gas, sir, though coal will do most as well. You see, I've got this burner patented that makes gas from crude oil—no waste, no odor nor trouble and little expense. It'd be cheaper than coal, I thought; that's why I invented it. I could get steam up mighty quick with that gas arrangement. I use it for lighting here in the store now."

"Do you, indeed?" Burnham's tone indicated falling interest, but such diplomacy was lost on Sam.

"If you've got time I could show you. It's right over here."

A glance at his watch accompanied Burnham's consent to spare a few minutes. "There's a telegram I must send presently," he said. "But I'd like to see this burner, if it won't take long."

"No, not long; just a minute or two. Sam was already dragging the affair out from under the window box. "You see?"

He went on to expound its virtues with all the fond enthusiasm of a father showing off his firstborn and wound up with a demonstration of the illuminating appliance. I'm afraid, though, he got little encouragement from Mr. Burnham. He considered the machine with a dispassionate air, its true, and admitted its practical advantages, but wasn't at all disposed to take a roseate view of its future.

"Yes," he grumbled when Sam put a match to the jet. "That's certainly a very good light."

"All right, ain't it?" chimed Roland, enthusiastically.

"Oh, it may amount to something. It's hard to tell. Of course you know, sir," he continued, addressing Graham directly, "you've got competition to overcome."

Sam's old fingers trembled to his chin. "No-o," he said. "I didn't know that. I've got the patent."

"Of course that's something. But the Consolidated Petroleum crowd has another machine, slightly different, which does the same work and, I should say, does it better."

"Is that so?" quavered Sam. "My patent?"

"Now, see here, Mr. Graham," Burnham argued, "we're practical men, both of us."

"No, I shouldn't say that about myself," Sam interrupted. "Now, you, sir, I can see you're a man who understands such things. But I—"

"Nevertheless you must know that a patent isn't everything. You said a moment ago a man had to have money to make anything out of his inventions."

"Did I?" Sam interjected, surprised. "Certainly you did. And dead right you are. A patent's all very well, but supposing you're up against a powerful competitor like the Consolidated Petroleum company. They've got a patent too. Granted, it may be an infringement of yours even. What can you do against them?"

an unknown and powerless inventor such them? Bless you, no! They'll fight to the last ditch. They'll engage the best legal talent in the country."

You'll have to carry the case to the supreme court of the United States if you want a winning decision. And that's going to cost you thousands—hundreds of thousands—a million!"

"Never mind. A thousand's enough," said Sam gently. "I see what you mean, sir. It's just another case where I've got no chance."

"Oh, I wouldn't put it as strong as that."

"But I have no money."

"Still, you never can tell. I'll think it over if I get time."

enthusiastic.

"Oh, it may amount to something. It's hard to tell. Of course you know, sir," he continued, addressing Graham directly, "you've got competition to overcome."

Sam's old fingers trembled to his chin. "No-o," he said. "I didn't know that. I've got the patent."

"Of course that's something. But the Consolidated Petroleum crowd has another machine, slightly different, which does the same work and, I should say, does it better."

"Is that so?" quavered Sam. "My patent?"

"Now, see here, Mr. Graham," Burnham argued, "we're practical men, both of us."

"No, I shouldn't say that about myself," Sam interrupted. "Now, you, sir, I can see you're a man who understands such things. But I—"

"Nevertheless you must know that a patent isn't everything. You said a moment ago a man had to have money to make anything out of his inventions."

"Did I?" Sam interjected, surprised. "Certainly you did. And dead right you are. A patent's all very well, but supposing you're up against a powerful competitor like the Consolidated Petroleum company. They've got a patent too. Granted, it may be an infringement of yours even. What can you do against them?"
